Do you want to be part of a successful and growing business, where you have the opportunity to develop together with committed and experienced colleagues? Are you service minded beyond the ordinary, used to working with customers in an international environment and transport with high demands on quality?

We are expanding and are looking for two or more packing leaders/drivers with driving license type B for our production company in Norsborg, Stockholm. Driving license type C is a plus. Are you the person we are looking for?

Job description

As a packing leader/driver you'll play an important part in Alfa Moving Production's growing team in Norsborg, Stockholm. During spring 2023, we will move to a new warehouse in Almnäs, Södertälje.

"We don't just handle any goods, we move people's irreplaceable memories. In my job, you have to enjoy meeting people in person, be sensitive to their needs and be able to handle the unexpected. I am proud of when I and my colleagues make a difference in someone's life. It is especially rewarding, when a returning customer asks for the same crew as their last move", says Kent Eriksson, driver at Alfa.

The work includes usual terminal work with loading/unloading from truck, managing our warehouse together with administrative tasks. You will also transport customer goods locally in the Stockholm area. This can include packing/loading or unpacking/unloading.

In your position as a packing leader/driver, you'll be part of a smaller team with experienced colleagues to serve families, employees at different authorities and companies when they relocate. We operate in an extensive international network and also serve other similar companies worldwide with transports in Sweden. You will report to our Warehouse/Production Coordinator.

Who are you?

You have at least one year's successful experience of similar work, both at a terminal and as a driver, together with a valid driving license type B. A driving license type C is a plus. You have a forklift driver's experience (A 1-4 and B 1-6), have a high mindset on safety and can easily follow instructions. One of your strengths is to be aware of risks before the unexpected happens and find sustainable solutions when needed. You have excellent communication skills in English and Swedish and enjoy working within a multicultural environment.

As a packing leader/driver you need to be a good communicator who can handle deadlines. You take the initiative when needed, but also appreciate and contribute to the cooperation in your crew.

To succeed in this position, you are confident, positive and flexible, with a good logistical mindset. You appreciate personal meetings and create close customer relationships. Also, you radiate a sense of confidence when others are stressed. Great emphasis is placed on personal suitability.
